PROJECT

A multicultural secondary school located in Toronto, Ontario updated a traditional library into a 21st Century Learning Commons. The new space encourages access to technology and offers sitting and standing height workspace.

DESIGN INTENT

The 21st Century Learning Commons accommodates technology allowing students to gather and learn around media tables. With furniture that provides comfort and flexibility it is easy for students to collaborate or work individually on projects. Mobile furniture on casters allow students and faculty to easily reconfigure the space.

SOLUTION

Expanse and Nebula Shape Tables were used with casters allowing easy mobility and reconfiguration. Discover Four Leg Chairs provide comfortable seating options. The Café Height Table and Discover Swivel Stools offer standing height workspace.
